

Married students may enroll in Caldwell Schools. They must, however, make satisfactory arrangements with the principal concerning “excuses” for being absent, and other responsibilities, immediately after marriage if during the school year, or during registration if the marriage was during the summer. All married students are expected to carry a full class load, maintain regular attendance, and meet the same academic standards as other students.

